RECOVERY

The Process

Step 1: Complete Checkup

The first step is to conduct a full check-up of your physical condition. This includes full physical, lab tests, and any other test needed to completely understand your state of health before surgery.

Step 2: Surgery

AMG specialists, trained in the latest technological processes, conduct all surgeries. Present at every surgery is an AMG medical director who performed your initial check-up. This is done to ensure that the surgeon has all vital information available about your health, and thus prevent some of the most common surgical mistakes that stem from lack of communication between the medical and surgical teams.

Step 3: Recovery

At AMG, we are not done when you leave the operating room. We have a full range of natural homeopathic treatments available to improve your recovery. In certain cases where surgery was performed due to an illness, we have programs available to improve your chances of avoiding any further surgery.
